SUBJECT: Study of the Radars Found at Nan Huang Ch'eng Tao, China

REFERENCE: (a) Requirement NSA/PO43/R-31/63
(b) CIA/PID Project C 1630-63

25X1D 1. This memorandum is in response to your requirement dated 31 October 1963 requesting a detailed study and photo enlargements of the two radars reported at Nan Huang Ch'eng Tao [REDACTED]

25X1B 2. Both radars appear to be of the SCR 270 type and have similar trailers. Radar one (1) annotated on the attached photograph, [REDACTED]. The small scale of the photograph, however, precludes identification of the mast configuration which is essential in differentiating the two types. There are what appear to be two unoccupied or alternate radar positions on the island. The relative proximity of similar type radars suggests use as equipment back-up in the event of malfunction or a different application of each radar.
